Process

1. Submit your idea. Describe what you want built, pick the features you need and attach any references. It's free and you don't need an account.
2. We review it. A person reads every request. We may ask questions. We only take on projects we can deliver well, so we may also decline — submitting doesn't guarantee acceptance.
3. We agree the scope. If we accept, we send you a written scope: features, platforms, deliverables, revision rounds and an estimated timeline. Work starts only after you confirm it.
4. We build it. We develop the project by hand and keep you updated. Where it helps, you get previews along the way.
5. You review the result. You test the finished project against the agreed scope. Anything that doesn't match is ours to fix, and changes within the agreed revision rounds are included.
6. You decide what to pay. After delivery, you choose the amount you think the work is worth. Any amount is accepted — including zero.
